Dear "Politics on the 'Net" panelist:

We are delighted that you will be joining us for our conference on "Politics on the 'Net: A Post-Mortem of the 1998 Elections." Attached you will find a current draft agenda for the day (still a work in progress), including the names and affiliations of the confirmed panelists. Please note that some of the panel times have changed slightly.

I would appreciate it if you could fax or e-mail me your bio by November 24th. (If it's already on the Web, please just point me to the right URL and I will link to it from our conference Web page, which is at www.ksg.harvard.edu/visions/netpolitics2.htm.)

A computer with Internet connection and data projector will be available for displaying Web pages; if you have pages you'd like to refer to and can send me a list of specific URLs beforehand, I will bookmark them to facilitate their quick recall. If you will require any other audiovisual equipment (overhead projector, etc.), please let me know.

Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions or problems:

Kristin Schneeman
617-496-6844 phone
617-496-1722 fax
kristin_schneeman@harvard.edu

Thank you again for agreeing to participate, and I look forward to seeing you in December!

Sincerely,

The following are some basic instruction for those trying to find the Kennedy School.

FROM THE SOUTH:

Take Route 93 North to the expressway North. Exit at Storrow Drive/Cambridge-Somerville exit. Follow Storrow Drive to the Harvard Square exit.

Bear right and cross the bridge. After the first light, (which is Memorial Drive) the Kennedy School is on the left and continues to Eliot Street at the second light.

FROM THE WEST:

Take Route 90, (Mass Pike) to the Allston/Brighton toll booth. From the toll booth, bear left toward Allston. Follow the road to the second traffic light. Take a right onto North Harvard Street. Follow North Harvard Street over the bridge, at the Charles River. After the first light, (which is Memorial Drive) the Kennedy School is on the left and continues to Eliot Street at the second light.

FROM THE NORTH:

Take Route 93 South to the Storrow Drive exit. Follow Storrow Drive to the Harvard Square exit. Turn right and cross over the bridge. After the first light, (which is Memorial Drive) the Kennedy School is on the left and continues to Eliot Street at the second light.

Public Parking is available on Eliot Street. There is an hourly rate.

Subj: Invitation to speak at "Politics on the 'Net: A Post-Mortem of the 1998 Elections"
Date: 98-11-10 18:39:30 EST
From: elaine_kamarck@Harvard.Edu
To: andyko@aol.com

Dear Andy,

I am writing to invite you spend the day at the Kennedy School on Thursday, December 3rd to participate in a conference being hosted by the Visions of Governance for the Twenty-First Century Project, on Politics on the ?Net: A Post-Mortem of the 1998 Elections. Your participation on the panel discussing "The Voters" from 9:30 to 11:00 a.m. would be a great contribution toward helping us map the playing field for 2000.

This conference will bring together political practitioners, activists and members of the media with political scientists and others to offer their perspectives on how the ?Net was used -- successfully and unsuccessfully -- for campaigning, fundraising, issue advocacy, etc. -- and what lessons might be drawn for the 2000 campaign season. The last six months have seen some nascent efforts to gather and analyze data and anecdotal evidence about the Internet?s use as a political tool, and we hope to capture some of the best information and experience currently available during the course of the day.

This day-long event will focus on the following kinds of questions. Who was online in 1998, and what were they doing there? What was -- and will -- the impact be politically? Which candidates were using the Internet, and what for? How was it integrated with other campaign media? Did it help anyone win? How was the ?Net used to advance issue campaigns in 1998? And what might the future direction of this communications medium be?

I do hope you will accept this invitation and look forward to hearing from you soon. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call Kristin Schneeman (617-496-6844), the coordinator of the conference.

Sincerely,

Elaine C. Kamarck

Many thanks to all of you who attended and participated in our conference last week on "Politics on the 'Net: A Post-Mortem of the 1998 Elections." It was an incredibly lively and informative day for us, and we hope you all walked away with some interesting new information -- in the form of data or anecdotes -- on which to chew.

We have plans to produce an edited transcript of the day's conversations; we'll be sure to provide you with further details as they become available.

Below you will find e-mail addresses (or fax numbers, in cases where I had no e-mail addresses) for the people who attended the conference. There was clearly a great deal of interest among the members of the group in being informed when new studies became available (such as the new Pew report), so please let us all know when your organization is putting out some new research from which we all might be able to benefit.

Thanks again for your time and your insights.
